Greetings,

I think that this ruling only helps to set precedence for noncompetitive and unethical conduct among a group of corporations that already have little or no accountability for their actions. Unfortunately, Lincoln warned us about corporations before his assassination and our founding fathers built a mechanism for disenfranchising corporations when they did not act ethically and fairly in the marketplace. This action only goes to show that Lincoln, Washington, Jefferson and others were right, now soulless corporations run America with no regard for the best interests of America as a driving ambition. Have Americans now accepted the unethical cut-throat philosophies of big business as acceptable behavior? I guess this proves the point rather poignantly. God help us all.

Respectfully,
